That's more than 7 million metric tonnes per year! These shocking numbers highlight the urgent need for eco-friendly solutions to reduce the impact of packaging waste and contribute to a healthier planet. With this need in mind, B&D; took on the challenge to make our packaging eco-friendly back in 2022. A team from Australia, New Zealand, and China joined forces to tackle the task head-on. From Concept to Carton: B&D;'s Eco-Journey The challenge was clear: transform the packaging for every single garage door opener and accessory in B&D;'s product line, ensuring it was both eco-friendly and functional. The outcome? A resounding success — all B&D; garage door openers and accessories now come in sustainable packaging. By switching to recycled cardboard and eliminating plastic and polystyrene, B&D; achieved massive waste reduction: Eliminated 243 km of plastic strapping - that's as long as the Great Ocean Road! Saved 143 cubic metres of polystyrene - enough to fill 6 shipping containers Cut out 5.1 tonnes of plastic - equivalent to the weight of a 40-foot yacht Our team also got creative with space-saving solutions like "Slip Sheeting" - using paper sheets between cartons to prevent damage and allow tighter packing. This clever move led to: 40% more products per shipping container Fewer shipments needed Lower shipping and packaging costs A significant drop in CO 2 emissions And we made yet another leap forward, ditching bulky paper manuals in favour of online digital versions with QR codes. The result? Even less waste and a smoother experience for tech-savvy homeowners. Brown Packaging Packs a Stylish Punch Our eco-friendly switch delivered an unexpected bonus too. The new simple brown designs, created to slash harmful waste, exude a surprisingly premium feel. The response to the new packaging was overwhelmingly positive. "A huge improvement" and "Wow, this looks so high-end!" were typical reactions. It just goes to show that when you commit to sustainability, good things follow - sometimes in ways we least expect. "Sustainability isn't just a buzzword for us; it's at the core of
