Whether you're a new homeowner or would like to upgrade your existing garage door, our buying guide offers plenty of helpful information on door types, styles and essential security features. Explore our range Explore our range Explore our range Types of garage doors All of our B&D; garage doors are Australian-made and available in two types: roller doors and sectional doors. Roller garage doors Sectional garage doors Tilt doors Roller garage doors are perfect for garages, laneways, and storage sheds. They work by rolling upwards into a tight coil—similar to rolling a carpet—which is situated at the top of the door's frame. This design is efficient as it frees up ceiling space. These doors are available with an option to add an automated opener and come with a robust key lock system to deter unauthorised entry. They can also be built to withstand high winds, making them a reliable option for areas that frequently experience cyclones. Consisting of multiple interconnected panels, sectional garage doors create the appearance of a solid door. They can be customised to various garage shapes and sizes. In contrast to roller doors, these open and close along metal tracks attached to the ceiling. They are customisable in a variety of styles and colours, making them a favourite option for residential properties. This is due to their contemporary look, durability, and practicality. Manual operation of garage doors can be a thing of the past with sectional doors, as they are commonly bought with an automatic opener, enhancing security. Most garage doors lack a lock, but B&D;'s automatic locking system eliminates the need for a manual lock, ensuring that only people with a remote can access the garage. Tilt doors are less frequently used for garages due to their safety and security drawbacks, which is why B&D; does not manufacture or install them. These doors have visible springs on both sides and are made from a single, heavy piece, rather than having hinged panels. This design places additional strain on the springs and balance mechanism during operation. Worn-out springs can snap unexpectedly, causing the door to crash down, posing a risk to people, pets, and vehicles. Garage door safety and security At B&D;, ensuring your safety is our top priority when you're choosing a new garage door. We focus on providing the best safety features to protect you and your property. Here's an overview of the essential safety elements you should consider in a new garage door. Smart phone operation Garage doors that can be operated via a smartphone offer enhanced control and monitoring. The B&D; Smart Phone app allows you to manage access, and you can link multiple devices. It alerts you if the door is open, being used, or blocked. Smart door solutions Smart door solutions Smart door solutions Warranty The significance of a garage door warranty cannot be overstated. It guarantees that your door functions properly and endures as expected. B&D's garage doors and openers are designed to work together seamlessly, which is why we offer a leading 10-year Total Confidence Warranty *, ensuring their optimal performance and dependability. *Terms and conditions apply. Garage Door Warranty Garage Door Warranty Garage Door Warranty AUTO LOCK™ A closed garage door doesn't always mean it's secure. The AUTO LOCK™ feature is engineered to prevent intruders from lifting an unsecured door. It works by receiving a command from the remote control, activating a heavy-duty bolt to lock the door automatically, eliminating the need for a key. AUTO LOCK™ AUTO LOCK™ AUTO LOCK™ Automatic Reverse and Backdrive All B&D; automatic garage doors are equipped with a built-in Automatic Reverse function in their motor. This feature detects resistance or blockages, ensuring the door doesn't close on obstacles like people or belongings. Meanwhile, the Automatic Backdrive activates to push the door back down if an attempt is made to force it open. Openers and Remotes Openers and Remotes Openers and Remotes Infrared motion detection Alongside the auto-reverse function, we emphasise the importance of wireless safety beams. These infrared beams, positioned near the garage door's base, detect any object in the door's path. If something is detected, the door won't close, and if the beam is interrupted, the opener reverses direction, reducing the risk of accidents. Openers and Remotes Openers and Remotes Openers and Remotes Choosing a garage door style Garage doors are available in a range of materials, designs, colours, and finishes, ranging from high-end designer doors to classic looks. Considering that garage doors constitute about 60% of a house's front appearance, they are as crucial to your home's overall aesthetic as the front door, windows, or exterior siding. Choosing a quality garage door is vital. For a harmonious look with your home's colour palette and other steel elements, COLORBOND garage doors are an excellent choice. On the other hand, Knotwood offers a premium woodgrain finish that mimics the texture and warmth of real timber, providing an earthy and natural appeal. Feeling overwhelmed about where to begin? We're here to ease the decision-making process. Our team is ready to collaborate with you to identify your requirements and assist in designing a custom garage door that enhances your home's style. Feel free to contact us for a consultation with a B&D; garage door specialist to discuss your specific preferences.
