Compare the door formats

Start with the way the door moves and the space it needs, then explore the detailed model guide for specifications, finishes and options.

Door range	What to consider
Roll-A-Door	A steel curtain rolls around a drum above the opening. Allow for the required headroom, side room and opener space.
Roll-A-Door Secure	An integrated roller-door system with dual automatic locks, heavy-duty security guides and a reinforced bottom rail. Confirm the complete specified setup.
Panelift and Panelift Icon	Sectional panels travel along tracks beneath the ceiling. Compare profiles, finish collections and the compatible security options for each model.
Flex-A-Door	A flexible steel curtain travels into the garage on tracks. Ask about this option for limited headroom or a tilt-door replacement, subject to assessment.

For a business opening, tell us about operating frequency, access and controls. Our commercial range has different applications; residential capacities and warranty terms should not be assumed to apply.

Bring the look and equipment together

Compare profiles and finish samples alongside your exterior. Availability depends on the door model, size and selected options, including windows or insulation. Try our Garage Door Visualiser for the overall look, then check physical samples before choosing.

Have the model and version of any opener you want to keep ready. We need to confirm compatibility before recommending a replacement door, sectional AUTO LOCK , smartphone control, Safety Beams or battery backup. Ask what is included and what is optional. Roll-A-Door Secure uses its own integrated dual-lock system.

What to include in your quote

Door model, measured opening and required headroom, side room and track space.

Selected profile, colour, finish and compatible optional extras.

Opener, controls, safety equipment and locking setup.

Installation, removal of the old door, any electrical or building work, and exclusions.

Any assessed wind or bushfire requirement, site exposure and access restrictions.

Price, timing, payment terms, warranty and ongoing care requirements.

A location alone does not establish a door’s wind or bushfire suitability. Supply any assessed requirements so the appropriate tested configuration and installation can be confirmed. Use our price guide to understand door-only and complete installed pricing.

Service or repair for your existing door

If your door has become noisy, uneven or visibly damaged, arrange an assessment. Stop using an unsafe door and keep people clear. Springs, cables, brackets and balance adjustments need a trained technician; do not repeatedly operate the door to force a fault to clear.

Have the door and opener model, symptoms and service history ready. Use the matching owner manual for instructions and fault codes. The local provider confirms coverage, appointment availability, call-out charges and repair scope. A free new-door quote does not mean repair attendance is free.

Warranty and care for your package

Cover depends on the product, use and applicable terms. Eligible Total Confidence packages have purchase, installation, registration and servicing conditions; a later opener upgrade does not automatically restart the door’s warranty. Roll-A-Door Secure has separate system terms. Read our warranty guide and keep your purchase and service records. Follow the model handbook for care appropriate to your door and exposure.
