Compare the door types

The right starting point is how the door fits and moves. Explore the model pages for the complete dimensions, colour selections, options and installation requirements. We will confirm the permitted configuration for your opening.

Door	What to consider
Roll-A-Door	A steel curtain rolls around a drum above the opening. We check the space above and beside the door, including room for your chosen opener.
Roll-A-Door Secure	Dual automatic locks, reinforced guides, a security bottom rail and a specified compatible opener work together as a complete system. These parts cannot turn an existing ordinary roller door into Secure.
Panelift	Rigid panels travel along tracks beneath the ceiling. Compare profiles, colours and compatible options, then have us check the track and opener space.
Panelift Icon	Our premium sectional range includes AUTO LOCK with the compatible door and opener setup. Explore its profiles and finish collections when appearance and security are priorities.
Flex-A-Door	A flexible steel curtain travels on tracks into the garage. An option to consider for limited headroom or replacing a tilt door, subject to a site assessment.

For a business opening, start with our commercial door range . Door size, operating frequency and the intended application need a separate assessment; residential options and warranty terms do not automatically apply.

Find a finish you love

Compare profiles and colours with your home’s exterior. We will check the available finish, glazing and insulation combinations for your chosen model and size; these options are not interchangeable across the range. Try the Door Visualiser , then compare physical samples before you order.

Choose compatible security and controls

Tell us the model of any opener you plan to keep. We check compatibility before recommending a replacement door, sectional AUTO LOCK , smartphone control, safety beams or battery backup. Ask for the included equipment and optional extras to be itemised. Roll-A-Door Secure uses a different integrated dual-lock system with its own instructions.

What we check before you order

The opening height and width, usable drive-through space and room beside, above and behind the opening.

Tracks, beams, pipework, ceiling storage and other obstructions.

The floor slope and any access or weather-exposure concerns.

Your selected profile, colour and finish, plus any glazing or insulation options.

The opener, controls, locks and other accessories specified for the actual door.

Any documented wind or bushfire requirement supplied for the property.

A postcode alone does not determine a door’s wind or bushfire suitability. If your project has an assessed requirement, provide it to the installer and have the tested configuration confirmed. Ask for the model, installation work, optional extras, price and timing to be clear in your written quote.

Repairs and servicing in Richmond

If your door becomes noisy, uneven, unusually heavy or visibly damaged, arrange an assessment. Keep people clear and stop using a door that is operating unsafely. Springs, cables, brackets and balance adjustments need a trained technician; do not use repeated operation to force a fault to clear.

Have the door and opener model, installation details and a description of the symptoms ready. Lights and fault codes vary by model, so use the matching handbook rather than a general reset or lubrication instruction. Your local provider confirms availability, call-out charges, parts and repair scope.

Garage-door repair help · Request a repair · Request a service

A free new-door quote does not mean a repair call-out is free. Ask the provider what the visit includes before booking.

Warranty and care for your chosen package

Cover depends on the product, use and applicable terms. Eligible Total Confidence packages have purchase, installation, registration and servicing conditions; a later opener upgrade does not automatically restart the door’s warranty. Roll-A-Door Secure has a separate system warranty. Read our warranty guide and keep your purchase and service records. Follow the model handbook for cleaning and maintenance appropriate to your site.

Let’s find your right fit
