Windows Ideal for a Hamptons-inspired home, stylish Plain or Stockton windows can be added to Statesman and Grange profiles. 2. Insulation 9 out of 10 people use their garage for more than just storing cars. It's worth considering the flexibility your garage space can offer. Insulation acts as a barrier to heat flow and is essential for keeping your home warm in winter and cool in summer. It also reduces sound transfer to other parts of your home, which is helpful if you have young children or a bedroom above the garage.

3. Safety Upgrades

Safety Beams help do exactly that, keep your family and precious items safe when your door is operating. The infrared beam detects when an object has blocked the path of the door closing, causing the garage door opener to automatically stop and reverse. If you have young children or pets, safety beams are essential for garage door peace of mind. Reimagine your home with a B&D; garage door. With our latest garage door visualiser, you can effortlessly preview how a new door will enhance your home's exterior. It's a simple and innovative way to bring your vision to life. The B&D; Panelift Icon garage door comes with AUTO LOCK™ included. Can you match the garage door colour with the guttering/fascia of my house? Absolutely! With garages accounting for up to 60% of a homes façade it's important that it matches the look and feel of your home. In fact, we can even match it to your outdoor furniture or water feature. Explore our extensive range of colours and designs below or book a complimentary consultation with our mobile showroom consultant. The Panelift Icon door does not come with an opener but an opener can be added at purchase. Can I replace a single panel or section of my door, or do I need to replace the whole door? Yes, if it's a genuine B&D; sectional garage door you can replace a single section. Sectional door panels can be replaced if the damage to them is minimal. If the damage has affected a more major component of the door (for example the frame) then you will need to replace the entire door as doors that have bent their frames or fallen off their hinges are usually too dangerous to repair. A number of factors are considered when replacing the panel of the door including the age of the door and any upgrades we may have made to the machinery that manufactures our doors. Due to the every day wear and tear of your garage door we can't guarantee that the new panel will be a perfect colour match as colours tend to fade and lighten in the harsh Australian climate. Likewise if you have a sublimated garage door or a garage door with a woodgrain texture we recommend you purchase all new panels as the colour/grain will likely not be a perfect match. If you purchased your B&D; door through one of our Accredited B&D; Dealers we recommend you contact them first as they will have detailed records of your purchase to ensure a good fit. If you're not sure give our friendly team a call on 13 62 63 . If you don't have a B&D; door, we can organise a complimentary consultation to recommend you a new door to help you secure your garage. How do I manually open a B&D; sectional garage door? You can follow our quick how to video below. What garage door do I need for my high wind regions & terrain Australian building category? If you live in high wind region A or B then you can use a Panelift or Panelift Icon garage door. If you live in high wind region category C1 or C2 then you can use Storm-Shield or Windpanel door. If you live in region C3 or region D you need to use a Windpanel garage door. How does garage door insulation work? Garage door insulation works by regulating the temperature inside your garage, keeping it cooler in the summer and warmer in the winter. The insulation is typically made from materials like polystyrene or polyurethane foam. B&D; sectional doors that are designed with Knotwood, Natural (excluding Nullabor profile), and Sheer Panel finishes can be insulated. A door made from Colorbond Steel with a woodgrain texture can also be insulated. Is it worth the extra cost to buy an insulated garage door? While insulated garage doors may be more expensive upfront, it can save you money in the long run by reducing energy consumption and lowering your energy bills.
