Much like the engine of your car, your garage door is made up of numerous moving parts designed to lift and lower your garage door safely and efficiently. Ongoing preventative servicing ensures that your garage door continues to lift and lower, day in and day out. It also greatly reduces the risk of failure and repair bills down the track. Regular preventative servicing is also required to maintain your 10-year total confidence warranty . On this page Book a garage door service What does a garage door service entail? Submit Submit What does a garage door service entail? A standard garage door and opener service takes 30 minutes and includes: Lubrication of the critical moving parts including chain drive, tracks, wheels or cable drum. This ensures your door travels smoothly and quietly. Tightening of door mounting points along with door bolts, screws, cables and connectors. Delivering integrity of the door and tracks and preventing failure associated with parts pulling apart or away from fixing points. Adjustment of spring tension to limit 'spring fatigue' or undue strain on the opener, reducing likelihood of failure over time. Adjustment of opener travel limits and force margin to ensure the door opens and closes to specification, without causing damage to the door or opener. Assessment and adjustment of safety components and accessories including safety beams and AUTO LOCK™. Assessment of the door alignment and the diagnosis of irregular operation. It's important to note that any critical issues may require additional repair work and will be quoted separately. We recommend servicing your garage door once in the first 12 months and every two years thereafter. Garage door repair & servicing should only be provided by a trained professional Whether you've got a B&D; garage door or not, it's worth giving us a call every year or so. Our team of professional garage door technicians can service and repair all makes and models, and will keep your garage door in perfect working order, maintain its warranty and prevent potentially dangerous or expensive problems in the future. Call us or fill in the form above and we'll connect you with a B&D; dealer in your local area.
